

NEW!!!

University of Kentucky
College of Agriculture,
Food and Environment
Cooperative Extension Service

4-H Youth Development

FLEMING COUNTY

4-H DOG CLUB

Information Meeting

January 26th, 2023

6:00pm

Fleming County Extension Office

The goal of the 4-H Dog Program is to foster mastery by learning about dog breeds, anatomy, conformation, and care and management, belonging by taking part in club and community events, independence by demonstrating responsible dog ownership, and generosity by participating in community service and outreach events.

To Register: Scan this QR Code

or

Call the Fleming County Extension Office 606-845-4641 or email staci.newsom@uky.edu

Cooperative Extension Service
Agriculture and Natural Resources
Family and Consumer Sciences
4-H Youth Development
Community and Economic Development

Educational programs of Kentucky Cooperative Extension serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability, or national origin. University of Kentucky, Kentucky State University, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and Kentucky Counties, Cooperating.

LEXINGTON, KY 40546

Disabilities accommodated
with prior notification.